3. Study the following case/situation and express your opinion.

1. The Articles of a company stated that while borrowing any money from outsiders, the document must have the signatures of the Managing Director (MD) and any one of the Director. The Articles of Association clearly stated the procedure to be followed while borrowing money. The Managing Director did not follow all the procedures but still borrowed money from Mr. X. Mr. X assumed that the MD has followed the required procedures.

Question (a).

Can the MD be held punishable for his act?

Answer:

He can be held liable for his actions and can be insisted to pay back the loan amount.

Question (b).

Under which Doctrine can Mr. X take action against the company?

Answer:

Under Doctrine of Indoor Management.

Question (c).

Explain the Doctrine.

Answer:

- According to this doctrine, persons dealing with the company need not inquire whether internal proceedings relating to the contract are correctly followed.
- They are satisfied that the transactions are in accordance with the memorandum and articles of association.
- If there are any internal irregularities then the company will be liable as the person has acted in good faith and he did not know about the internal arrangement of the company.
- Similarly with X as he has acted in good faith and lent money to the managing director, but the managing director did not follow the procedure. So there is an irregularity that can make the director liable for his actions.

2. Mr. A entered into a contract with Star Limited Company and as advance payment gave a cheque of ₹ 1 lac to a Director Mr. Sam. Mr. Sam is not the Managing Director. Articles state that only the MD is authorized to sign any contracts or receive any payments on behalf of the company.

Question (a).

Did Mr. Sam have the authority to accept the cheque? Why?

Answer:

Sam did not have the authority to accept the cheque because usually, individual directors do not have the authority to act on the company's behaviour unless expressly authorized.

Question (b).

Can Mr. Sam's action be called as Ultra-Vires? Why?

Answer:

Mr. Sam's action cannot be called ultra-vires because any act done by him beyond the powers of the memorandum is called Ultra-Vires.

3. The Object clause of Memorandum of a Company stated the main object as manufacturing of plastic chairs and tables and any other activity in furtherance of achievement of its main activity. The Board of Directors wants also to produce T.V. Serials and feels that the shareholders may give their permission.

Question (a).

Can the company with immediate effect start producing T.V. serials? Why?

Answer:

No, a company cannot start producing T.V. serials with immediate effect. A company cannot indulge in activities other than those provided in the object clause. The activities carried outside the scope drawn by the Memorandum of Association are called Ultra-Vires activities.

Question (b).

How can the object clause of the company be altered?

Answer:

A special resolution must be passed in the General Meeting for altering the object clause.

4. A public limited company has issued all the shares mentioned in its Memorandum as Authorised Capital. Now the company wants to make a public issue of 10,000 shares at a face value of ₹ 100 per share, to raise more funds for its expansion activities.

Question (a).

Which clause of Memorandum needs to be altered?

Answer:

The capital clause of the memorandum needs to be altered.

Question (b).

In which meeting the alteration can be approved?

Answer:

A capital clause is altered by passing an ordinary resolution in a general meeting of the company.

Question (c).

Which document should the company issue to invite the public to buy its shares?

Answer:

The prospectus is the document issued to invite the public to buy its shares.

5. A Company stated in its prospectus that it has been making profits for the last 5 years. However, Mr. X., an investor found out that two years back the company had not made any profit. The prospectus was filed with ROC on 1st January 2017 and was issued to the public on 10th February 2018.

Question (a).

Can Mr. X state that there was mis-statement in the prospectus?

Answer:

Yes, Mr. X can state mis-statement in the prospectus.

Question (b).

If found guilty which two types of liability will the company and its officers face?

Answer:

- Civil liability (Pay compensation for loss suffered by the investor)
- Criminal liability companies or their officers will be fined or imprisoned or both.

Question (c).

Can the prospectus be valid for the issue to the public on 10th February 2018?

Answer:

No, the prospectus will not be valid for the issue to the public on 10th February 2018.

6. A Company plans to offer Rights Issues.

Question (a).

Which document must it send to its shareholders for offering the rights issue?

Answer:

Letter of the offer must be sent to its shareholders for offering the rights issue.

Question (b).

Instead of the rights issue, if the company wants to issue shares to the public which document must it issue for inviting the public to subscribe to it.

Answer:

The prospectus is the document to be issued by the company if it wants to issue shares to the public instead of rights issues.

Question (c).

Question 1.

State any four clauses of Memorandum of Association.

Answer:

Memorandum of Association is a basic document, which gives information about the aims and objects of the company. It is also a charter of a company.

The following are four clauses of Memorandum of Association:

(i) Name Clause:

- This clause state the company's proposed name.
- It must end with the word limited if its a public company or private limited if its a private company.
- It can't be identical to any existing company's name.
- It can't resemble any registered Trade Mark.
- It should not be misleading in any way.

(ii) Registered office clause:

- The registered office clause lists the name of the state where the company's registered office is physically located.
- The registered office's physical location determines which jurisdiction the Registrar of companies and which court the company would fall under.
- It also confirms the company's nationality .
- The registered office's full address must be provided to the Registrar of companies to simplify further communications.

(iii) The object clause:

- This clause defines the objects for which a company is formed. It indicates the range of activities a company can undertake. This clause states in detail the main object for which the company is to be incorporated.
- The objects of the company must not be illegal, immoral or against the public policy.
- A company cannot do anything beyond or outside the scope of its objects.

(iv) Liability clause:

- The liability clause explains what liability each of the company's member faces. If the company is limited by shares the liability that each member faces can be no more than the face value of share.
- If the company is limited by guarantee, this clause must define how much liability each individual company member holds.

Question 2.

State any four contents of Articles of Association.

Answer:

Articles of Association is a document which contains rules and regulations that governs the internal management.

The following are the four contents of Articles of Association:

- Share capital – Shares and their value and their division into different types of shares.
- Rights of each class of shareholders and procedure for variation of their rights.
- Procedure relating to allotment of shares, making of calls and forfeiture of shares.
- Rules relating to transfer and transmission of shares and the procedure to be followed.

Question 3.

State the statutory requirements in relation to Prospectus.

Answer:

Prospectus is an invitation to public to purchase its share and debentures. It is issued after the formation of company.

The following are the statutory requirements in relation to Prospectus:

- Draft Prospectus to be made Public: A draft prospectus filed with SEBI by the company should be made available to the public and to the stock exchange where the company wants to lists its shares.
- Signed by Director's: Prospectus must be signed by all directors or by duly authorised attorney.
- Registration of Prospectus: A copy of the prospectus must be registered with ROC before issuing it to the public.
- Dating of Prospectus: A prospectus has to be dated. The date on the prospectus is considered as the date of publication of prospectus.
- Issuing Prospectus to Public: Prospectus must be issued to the public within 90 days from the date of registering a copy with the ROC.

6. Justify the following statements.

Question 1.

Memorandum of Association defines the limitations of the powers of the company.

Answer:

- The Memorandum of Association is a basic or fundamental or primary document of a company.
- It contains the following clauses: Name clause, Address clause, Object clause, Liability clause, Capital clause, Association of subscription clause.
- The entire business centres around its object clause.
- Object clause of the Memorandum of Association defines the area beyond which the company cannot do anything.
- It determines the powers of the company.
- It helps the stakeholders to know what is its permitted range of operation.
- A company is governed by Memorandum of Association and any act beyond it shall be considered as ultra-vires.
- Hence, Memorandum of Association defines the limitations of the power of the company.

Question 2.

Ultra-vires acts are null and void.

Answer:

- A Memorandum of Association of a company is a basic charter of the company.
- If a company departs from its Memorandum of Association such an act is ultra-vires.

- The doctrine of ultra vires is a fundamental rule of company law.
- An act legally in itself but not authorized by the object clause of Memorandum of Association of a company is ultra-vires.
- Hence if the company does an act or enters into a contract beyond the powers of the company then the act is said to be null and void.
- The company cannot sue on an ultra-vires transaction or it cannot be sued.
- Thus, I agree with the above statement.

Question 3.

Contents of Articles can be altered.

Answer:

- As per section 2(2) of the companies Act, 1956 'Articles' means Articles of Association of a company as originally framed or as altered from time to time in pursuance of any previous companies' law or of this Act.
- The Articles regulate the internal management of a company.
- It states the relationship between the company and its members.
- The articles, being the internal regulations of a company can be altered easily.
- The articles are required to be altered from time to time as per changes made by the government in the company law or as per changing situations in the corporate sector.
- Thus, the Articles of Association can be altered by passing a 'Special Resolution' at a general meeting.

Question 4.

The doctrine of Indoor Management protects outsiders who are unaware of the correctness of the internal proceedings of a company.

Answer:

- The doctrine of Indoor Management states that a person entering into a contract with the company need not inquire whether the company has followed the internal processing.
- It is assumed that the company acts as per the Memorandum of Association and Articles of Association.
- Because certain information which is internal to a company cannot be known to outsiders.
- So the doctrine of Indoor Management protects the interest of the outsider when the act is based on the Memorandum of Association and Articles of Association.

Question 5.

A prospectus is an important document issued by a public company.

Answer:

- A prospectus usually is in the form of a statement giving all material information about the company and showing its future prospectus.
- It aims at inviting investors to subscribe to its shares and debentures.
- It is a must for every public company to prepare its prospectus.
- It is through the prospectus that the prospective investors know the details of the shares offered by the company.
- Otherwise, the investors would have no idea of the shares that a public company is selling.
- All detailed information about a company like its business management, financial structure, etc., are provided in the prospectus.
- The main idea to issue a prospectus is to collect capital for the company from the general public.
- It should contain true, fair, and correct information.
- Hence, the prospectus is very important for a public company.

Question 6.

Company and officers responsible for issuing Prospectus are liable for mis-statements in Prospectus.

Answer:

- The prospectus is a written document giving an invitation to the public to purchase shares or debenture of the company.
- It provides all the necessary information about a company, its business, the management, financial structure, etc., of a company.
- A prospectus must be prepared very carefully and accurately.
- It should contain true and correct information and honest disclosure of facts.
- A company and all those officials can be held responsible for any mis-statement in the prospectus.
- These people have to face severe consequences.
- The shareholder can cancel the contract.
- Persons authorizing the issue of prospectus containing mis-statement are punishable with imprisonment of two years and a fine up to ₹ 5,000.
- Thus, I agree with the above statement.

7. Answer the following questions.

Question 1.

Briefly explain the clauses of the Memorandum of Association.

Answer:

- The Memorandum of Association is the principal document of a company.
- It is considered the charter of the company.
